PROBABLE CHARGES OF BRIBERY IN LEGISLATIVE

Grand Jury and House Committee on Rules Hear Stories of Men Alleged to Have Received Money Offers for Votes—Double Inquiry Is on To-day.

Bribery in the Legislature is under consideration to-day by the May Grand Jury and the Committee on Rules of the House.

District Attorney Moran presented evidence obtained personally at his office earlier in the day to the Grand Jury. The Committee on Rules in the House, on motion of Representative William H. I. Hayes of Lowell, took up the same subject the first thing to-day, and the House itself may take action later.

This probing by the county prosecutor and the House of Representatives follows the statement by Representative Simon Swig of Taunton and Edwin F. Leonard of Springfield that they had been offered bribes to vote against a measure in that body.

Swig brought the matter to public notice last Wednesday. He said a legislative agent had tried to bribe him and later denied it. Then Representative Leonard came forward with the story that another member of the House had offered him a bribe of $50, with the additional information that there was $500 for ten men who would vote against the bill.

Swig and Leonard, with Representative John H. Toland of West 15, Boston, Thursday, a legislative agent was called to the office of the district attorney nearly today. They all told the district attorney their stories, after which Mr. Moran called them before the grand jury.

As such as the House convened today, Representative Hayes offered the following statement:

SWIG TELLS HIS STORY.
 "Ordered, that the Committee on Rules be directed to make an investigation and to determine what action, if any, should be taken by the House in reference to charges of bribery in connection with Senate Bill No. 241 made by a certain newspaper man published in the City of Boston."

The order was referred to the Committee on Rules, and it was said that through the first of the men to be called before the grand jury was Representative Leonard.

GRAND JURY TAKES UP INSURANCE SCANDALS

NEW YORK, May 7.—The special grand jury of twenty-three men who will probe insurance affairs to see whether insurance companies are being defrauded by insurance officers who have been charged with illegal acts, met this afternoon to begin their work.

Justice Miller's instructions were also given during statutory hours.

One part of the instructions which caused some comment was when Justice Miller told the grand jurors that while it is not necessary to disclose names of persons who have been charged with insurance offenses, it is necessary to throw as light upon matters under investigation which would tend to explain what on its surface appeared to be a mystery.

This was reiterated by persons about the court house today as indicating that accused insurance officers will be given every opportunity to explain what they were so suspicious actions on their part.

It is understood that the Grand Jury will sit again this afternoon, will examine a dozen or so witnesses, who have been summoned to appear from the various insurance companies, who will be deposed, it is said, by the grand jurors.

RICH MAN KILLED IN DEER WITH BURGLAR

SHOT TO DEATH IN FIGHT WITH ROBBER AT HIS HOME—CONFIDANT OF H. H. ROGERS.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Charles L. Spier, 57, president of the Richmond Light & Railroad Company and confidential man to Henry H. Rogers, was shot and killed early to-day by a burglar after a desperate hand-to-hand struggle in his home at No. 7 Tenthavenue, New Brighton, Nassau Island.

Mr. Spier was shot through the heart. The burglar escaped.

Mr. Spier had close associations with Henry H. Rogers and had acted as the intermediary between the two men in the Rogers' oil empire, but came to his office in No. 24 Broadway very day. Mr. Spier was a director in many corporations, representing Mr. Rogers' interests. The same financial was so prominently on Nassau Island.

ROBBED MANY TIMES.
 The spier house has been robbed many times, and the police would unite to stop the thieving. Early this morning Mr. Spier was awakened by a man, and he told his wife that burglars were in the house. Taking his revolver and calling his wife to remain quiet, he left to room. He could not find the burglar, and he returned to the dining room and after looking out of the front door and down stairs.

The burglar must have been waiting for Mr. Spier at the bottom of the stairs and the two men grappled with each other. A fierce struggle followed, and the burglar, who had been waiting all over the house, came to the door and saw the burglar. There was a shot and Mr. Spier told his wife that he was going to her husband.

The frightened wife ran down stairs.

SULTAN FEARS BRITISH; CONSIDERS SUICIDE

ENGLAND REFUSES TO REOPEN TABAH DISPUTE, AND TURKEY WANTS TO GO TO H.A. QUE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 7.—Barrage on the special bridge on the Nile, which the British demand that Tabah be evacuated within ten days, and that the Sultan consent to a joint demarcation of the Sudan's peninsula frontier, the Council of Ministers is in extraordinary session. The Sultan's attempt to reopen the discussion met with a curt response from Sir Herbert O'Connor, British Ambassador. His reply was that all further communications on the subject must come through the Turkish foreign minister.

It is reported that the Sultan wishes to submit the question to the Hague. Owing to the intervention of the great of Egypt, the Sultan is not prepared to do so. On Thursday Sir Nicholas O'Connor is expected before Wednesday.

SHEETHEART SHOT; MOTHER POISONED

Was She Impelled by Mystic
Power in Jesse Borden Tragedy?

Special to the Boston American.
BROCKTON, May 7.—Ethel Sturtevant, who is in jail at Haverhill, N. H., charged with shooting her sheetheart, Jesse Borden, bought herself just before her mother's death in this city three years ago and hid it under the eaves in her mother's room, and the mother died with all the symptoms of arsenical poisoning, according to the statements of Dr. D. A. Dunn of Brockton.

The Dunn investigation of the case with the Brockton police.
"Before her death Mrs. Sturtevant told me she was being poisoned," said Dr. Dunn to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter to day. "After her death we became suspicious and questioned her. We could get nothing from her.

"I went down to the house and Ethel pretended to be in a trance. I shook her and said: 'You may fool the police but you can't fool me. I could get no satisfaction from her, however.

"She was taken to the police station, and after she had been questioned for over two hours she admitted that she had been poisoning her mother. She said she had hidden the arsenic under the eaves in her mother's room. When she was asked why she bought it she said: 'I bought it to protect myself.

"Mrs. Sturtevant died with all the symptoms of arsenical poisoning, but nothing was ever proven against anyone.
"When I saw that New Hampshire came in the papers the first thought that came into my mind was that it was the Ethel Sturtevant who was told to live here. I and she left Brockton. She used to come into my office sometimes and I was afraid of her.

"A child she was abnormally developed. She was very smart about things, and she was very thorough. She was thoroughly conversant with the Roman Catholic faith. Even if she is guilty of this shooting, I think I will never be convicted. She is too shrewd."

IMPELLED TO DO SHOOTING BY MYSTIC POWER

LEBANON, N. H., May 7.—One of the most mysterious cases that ever came before the New Hampshire supreme court for investigation confronts them in the case of Miss Ethel Sturtevant, the pretty sixteen-year-old girl who is charged with killing Jesse Borden, her sheetheart, after she had been told by a spirit to do so.

The case is being heard in the supreme court at Lebanon. The girl is charged with shooting Borden, who was killed in the city of Brockton, Mass., on the night of the shooting. The girl is charged with shooting Borden, who was killed in the city of Brockton, Mass., on the night of the shooting.

DAMAGED BY $50,000 FIRE.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 7.—Fire today destroyed the W. H. Armstrong & Sons' building at the corner of North Meridian street.

The building was a five-story structure, and it was completely destroyed. The fire started in the basement and spread rapidly to the upper floors.

The loss is estimated at $50,000. The building was owned by the Armstrong & Sons company, which was a well-known firm in Indianapolis.

The fire was caused by a gas leak in the basement. The gas had accumulated and then ignited, causing the explosion.

The fire department arrived quickly, but they were unable to save the building. The fire was completely out of control by the time they arrived.

The fire was a major disaster for the city. It caused the loss of many valuable items and a large amount of property.

Are Two Baby Girls the Key to the Muentner Tragedy?

His Hope Was to Live After Death in Son.
Pupil of Muentnerberg, He Had No Faith in Immortality—Does This Give a Motive?

By Clement Laird Pollock.

THE police of Cambridge have ascertained their belief that Erich Muentner murdered his wife. That was the charge made after the contents of the dead woman's stomach had been analyzed by Professor Whitney, the Harvard expert. The report told them that death was due to arsenical poisoning. They suspected that the Harvard instructor who was alone with his wife when she passed away, gave her the poison.

The first question that naturally arises itself in a case of this kind is what motive could Muentner have had for such an act?

While the best criminal lawyer will tell you that there is no motive that justifies murder, that doesn't convince the person who has the motive.

The friends of Muentner and he had a great many of them have revealed the motive of the man relative to the treatment of his wife. They take some of the ordinary characteristics that would in them that at one time he might take the better of the dead was done and was a long period of time.

NO ORDINARY CASE.
Did anything strange in the Muentner household of importance shortly before the woman's strange death? Yes. But nothing more, that could have inspired the belief that Erich Muentner had murdered his wife. It was a case of the ordinary characteristics that would in them that at one time he might take the better of the dead was done and was a long period of time.

3,000 PERSONS VACCINATED

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—Forty-four thousand people were vaccinated in the southeastern part of the city yesterday and 5,000 were vaccinated under the direction of the Board of Health and public safety officers.

It was the most extensive vaccination campaign since the city was taken over by the city and for a time there was considerable excitement. That section of the city was under quarantine for two hours, and the city had a hard time guarding against disease and epidemics.
